

Curly Communications Ltd is a provider of personal and professional development programmes using Neuro-Semantics, Neuro Linguistic Programming Methodologies that have proven to change minds and lives for the better.

There are four parts to Curly Communications Ltd:

- Corporate Seminars/Workshops.
- Self Development Training for pleasure or profit
- Remedial and Generative Coaching
- Own your own business and work from home Business Opportunity

Our vision is to be New Zealand's leading provider of strategies for a fuller and more meaningful work and personal life.

Our mission is to sort your personal and/or professional $#^ out by using the very best in training and coaching methodologies available.

Our Beliefs are:

People are not broken, they work perfectly well

People make the best choices available to them at any given time

It is better to add choices then take them away

People are more than what they say and do, people are not their behaviours

If you get serious you get stupid

The meaning of our communication is the response you get back irrespective of our intention

There is no failure, only feedback. Feedback is only information. It's what you do with it that counts.

Andree C James Director of Curly Communications Ltd has been a corporate trainer for well over a decade working for organisations such as Sky City, IAG NZ Ltd, Progressive Enterprises. Her final stint was with Repco NZ Ltd firstly as National T&D Manager and later promoted to Human Resources Manager for NZ and is a Trainer of NLP/NS and Meta Coach.

